In the Senate there is a determination to stand by the Potomac flats appropriation in said to a STAR reporter to-day, "The appropriation will be there if the bill passes. There is not the remotest idea of surrendering it." Senator Ingalls is also an earnest friend of the improvement and will insist upon its being provided for. Senators McPherson, Conger, Gorman and others are equally determined that this item should not be given up, and, in fact, the same feeling obtains generally in the Senate. The pretense set up in the House that the improvement does not properly come under the head of rivers and harbors, is regarded in the Senate as puerile and evasive. That question was raised when the first appropriation was made and then decided by both houses against the faction that raised it. And now, are always as the senate. Having referred to a speech delivered by Senator Beck last December which exposed, he said, the shams of democratic policy, he was asked by Mr. McPherson to state what he meant by that remark, and he explained his meaning to be this: That the democratic administration had come into power by criticising adversely the financial policy of its predecessor and saying that more money was held in the Treasury than was necessary to carry on the ordinary operations of the government and to maintain the paper plus on the public debt, had accumulated more than $60,000,000 in the Teasury over and above the proper reserve, and that it was only the speech of the Senator from Kentucky that put a stop to that policy and caused the first call for $10,000,000 to be issued. The House resolution, he said, utterly and absolutely con-

THE BACKBONE FORFEITURE. The Senate committee on public lands to-day ordered a tavorable report on the House bill to "declare a torfeiture of lands granted to the New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Vicksburg (the Backbone) railroad company, to confirm title to certain lands and for other purposes." Senator Van Wyck will make a minority report adverse to that portion of the bill confirming to the New Orleans Pacific railroad company, as assignee, a portion of the original Backbone grant. THE LEGISLATIVE, ETC., APPROPRIATION BILL

PASSED. Mr. Holman submited the conference report on the legislative bill in the House yesterday afternoon, settling the last point of difference between the two houses by agreeing to an increase of $70,000 instead of $150,000 in the internal revenue appropriation. The total appropriation made by the bill is $20,654,346, which is $86,000 less than the appropriation contained in the bill as it passed the Senate and $722,000 less than the appropriation authorized by the current law by the current law. THE SANTOS CORRESPONDENCE.

All the correspondence in relation to the case of Julius R. Santos, who was imprisoned by the government of Ecuador, was transmitted to the House yesterday by the Secretary of State. It contains no facts beyond those already published, but shows that Secretary Bayard made an imperative demand for the relief of Santos and that a man-of-war was sent to enforce the demand. Santos was released on August 11, 1885.

A SKETCH OF THE IMPROVEMENT. The report gives in detail the object of the ment would not leave the question entirely in the hands of the administration, and whether the administration would not determine that the emergency always existed. Before he could the emergency always existed. The Virginia channel up to West Washington has a depth of about 20 feet, (except where shoaled by recent freshets), and a to a height of about six feet or more. On section 2, that portion between the sewer canal and Long bridge, about 6,700 linear feet of emervoir, has been built, and the excavation of the tidal reservoir itself has been commenced. On section 3, the part below Long bridge, about 212 acres have been filled to a height above overflow at high tide. The total amount filled to a height above overflow at ordinary high tide is 375 acres. Of the contract for dredging and depositing 1,000,000 cubic yards from the Washington channel there only remains a few days work to be done, when the contract will be closed. The contract for dredging a like amount elect for Chatle from the Virginia channel is about half completed. This work was retarded by the material being more difficult to be dredged than was an-

A SEASON OF FRESHETS. The past winter and spring have been noted for the great number of freshets. Though none of them caused a rise in the river at this place point to anything in the democratic platform of higher than about 64 feet above mean low tide, their frequent recurrence kept up a swift downstream current, which retarded work and caused an injurious deposit of sediment in the dredged channels. In the Washington channel noney, for an honest administration of the there was a fill of no less than four feet a short Treasury, and for an honest payment of the distance below Long bridge, and in the Virginia channel above the bridge there was a fill of nearly the same amount. It has been necessary, so far, to keep the Washington channel open to aid in the discharge of freshets, and until the cross section of the Virginia channel had been increased it was thought unsafe to do work on section 2. The work has now reached that stage when it is not only desirable but important to close the upper end of the Washington channel in order to prevent these treshet deposits. As soon as the embankment along the outer margin of section 2 is up to a height of the river will be sufficiently contracted to prevent injurious deposits above Long bridge, and as the Washington channel will be closed at the upper end, no appreciable amount of seqiment will be swept into it. It must be expected that the work will be damaged by every freshet until it has progressed further toward comple-tion. Taken altogether the damage done by the freshets and fee during the past year was comparatively small, and most of it could have

Their cost will be about $208,144, and an appropriation of $100,000 is recommended to begin their work of construction.

LONG BRIDGE. The attention of Congress is again called to the necessity of action in regard to Long bridge. The plan recommended by the board of engineers for the improvement of the river front contemplates the rebuilding of the bridge at an contemplates the rebuilding of the bridge at an early period during the progress of the improvement, with wide spans, upon piers affording the least possible obstruction to the flow of water. No plan of improvement can be made satisfactory while the bridge remains as it is—a serious obstruction to the flow of water beneath it. The dredging in the Virginia channel above and below this bridge has had to be stopped some distance from it for fear of injuring the foundation of the piers. The bridge ought to be rebuilt without unnecessary delay. THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Labor Organizations. CHICAGO, July 29 .- Chicago Council, No. 1. Conservators' League of America, held an open meeting last night, for the purpose of discussing the object and aims of the organization. Judge Mark Bangs, in stating the character of the league, said that the recent so-called labor troubles had arisen from a vital misapprehension of the true relation sustained by ail classes to the business interests of the country, and greatly aggravated, rather than relieved, the evils complained of. To counteract these injurious results and to protect these all-important business interests the "Conservators' League of America" has been organized, the purpose of which is to unite in one organization all men who believe in the supremacy of the law and are willing to join in putting in motion a great moral force to uphoid the law and conserve alike the rights of the employer and the employed; to protect business from disorders and from all unlawful interference, and to promote a better understanding of true relation of the employers and the employes; maintaining the rights of each and adjusting their differences. Referring to the power of the Knights of Labor and similar organizations, he said it would be the duty of the league to watch and guard against any attempt by them to capture the ballot-box and control legislation, to stand between and an-tagonize the Utopian schemes of a class who seek to overthrow the present order of things, and say to the members of such organizations, "Thus far shait thou go, and no further."
